

Ronan Banim

Consultant Orthopaedic Surgeon
Chester

Mr Ronan Banim is a Consultant Orthopaedic and Lower Limb Surgeon in Chester, specialising in orthopaedics and trauma. He is an expert in knee surgery, joint replacement, ligament reconstruction, joint revision surgery, and arthroscopic hip and knee surgery.

Mr Banim studied for his medical degree at London University, from where he qualified in 1993 with both a BSc (Hons) as well as the medical degree, MB BS. Following this he underwent basic training in and around London.

After gaining his Fellowship in Surgery, he was appointed to the West Midlands Training Program and was taught at The Robert Jones and Agnes Hunt Orthopaedic Hospital, Oswestry, along with hospitals in North Wales and Stoke-on-Trent.

After passing his Speciality Fellowship exams, Mr Banim's training then took him first to Wrightington, the hospital where modern-day hip replacements were developed, and then on to America for further training in trauma and sports surgery.

Mr Banim is part of the orthopaedic team in the Countess of Chester Hospital that provides 24 hour emergency trauma cover in the Chester area. He runs a weekly trauma clinic and operating list, caring for both routine and complex fractures as well as other injuries. In common with his elective practice, Mr Banim deals with complex lower limb trauma, but will also see most common fractures, and operate on them if necessary. So if you break a bone, and go to the Countess of Chester Hospital fracture clinic on Thursday, you are likely to see Mr Banim there most weeks.

Mr Banim regularly attends meetings and courses in orthopaedics and trauma to make sure he is always up-to-date with the latest developments. He uses evidence gained from these meetings and courses, along with the current literature, to guide his professional decision making and always works in close conjunction with allied health professionals and physiotherapists to provide a cohesive multidisciplinary approach. This ensures that he provides the best treatment for all his patients.
