

Shane MacSweeney

Associate Professor and Consultant
Vascular Surgeon
Nottingham

Based in Nottingham, Mr Shane MacSweeney is an experienced Consultant Vascular Surgeon offering the latest treatments for conditions affecting the arteries and veins, including minimally invasive varicose vein surgery, keyhole aortic aneurysm repair, angioplasty and bypass surgery for blocked leg arteries and carotid surgery for the prevention of strokes.

Mr Shane MacSweeney is a Consultant Vascular Surgeon and Honorary Clinical Associate Professor at Queens Medical Centre in Nottingham. Skilled in the latest minimally-invasive surgical techniques, he provides private treatment for vascular problems such as varicose veins, abdominal aortic aneurysm and stroke prevention at three leading independent hospitals in the Nottingham area.

Mr MacSweeney qualified from Cambridge University in 1984 and trained as a Vascular Surgeon, initially in London and then in Australia with Michael Lawrence Brown, a pioneer of endovascular aneurysm surgery. Mr MacSweeney performed the first operations in the UK using this method in 1996, and the Zenith endovascular stent graft is now established as one of the leading methods for keyhole repair of aortic aneurysms worldwide.

Mr MacSweeney has been a Consultant Vascular Surgeon at Queens Medical Centre in Nottingham since 1995. He performed the city's first minimally invasive VNUS catheter ablation operation for varicose veins, as well as introducing carotid surgery under local anaesthetic. He has also been a trainer for endoscopic thoracic sympathectomy, a surgical procedure to treat facial blushing and excessive sweating of the hands.

With a Masters degree in Clinical Education, and a former Vascular Tutor for the Royal College of Surgeons and the Vascular Society, Mr MacSweeney remains actively involved in teaching vascular surgeons both nationally and internationally. Mr MacSweeney was appointed an Honorary Clinical Associate Professor by the University of Nottingham in recognition of his contribution to research.
