Dr Calum Lyon is a highly regarded, award-winning dermatologist based in York. He offers a range of dermatology treatments at his private practice, specialising in skin cancer.

Having graduated from the University of Cambridge in 1991, Dr Lyon received specialist dermatology training at Salford Royal Hospital, Manchester. In Manchester he also undertook further training in contact allergy, prick testing and developed the specialty of stoma dermatology

In 2001, he was appointed as a consultant in York. In this post he further developed his interest in skin cancer diagnosis and dermatological surgery in general as well. One day per month, Dr Lyon works in a specialist dermatology clinic in Manchester that provides treatment for issues associated with inflammatory bowel disease and stomas. He has also developed this service in York.

Dr Lyon has conducted extensive research on skin conditions that affect stomas, an area of dermatology that he continues to research. His findings have seen him travel both nationally and internationally, as he is regularly invited to lecture on his work.

He has had over 100 articles published in peer reviewed journals, contributed to four major dermatology textbooks, and has published a skin atlas of skin diseases affecting abdominal stomas.
