

Adam Friedmann

Consultant Dermatologist
London

Dr Adam Friedmann is a UK-trained Consultant Dermatologist, consulting on all general skin conditions and has more than a decade's experience in this field. He is based at The Harley Street Dermatology Clinic, Devonshire Place.

Dr Adam Friedmann consults on all general skin conditions such as acne, psoriasis, eczema and moles and he has a special interest in skin cancer and blistering conditions. Dr Friedmann is qualified to treat both adults and children.

Dr Adam Friedmann, MBBS, FRCP, is Consultant Dermatologist and Clinical Lead of the Harley Street Dermatology Clinic.

He qualified in medicine at the prestigious King's College London in 1997 and has over 12 years experience in dermatology, having worked in many of London's top teaching hospitals. Dr Friedmann founded the Harley Street Dermatology Clinic with a view to establishing it as a service provider of the very highest quality in private dermatology.

Dr Friedmann formerly held an NHS post as a Consultant Dermatologist at The Whittington Hospital in North London and until 2016 was a multi-award winning Dermatology Teaching Lead for University College London medical students.

All skin specialists at The Harley Street Dermatology Clinic are consultants, having obtained membership of the Royal College of Physicians and a Certificate of Completion of Specialist Training in Dermatology. All are all members of the British Association of Dermatologists, the Royal Society of Medicine and the General Medical Council and have a licence to practice medicine.

At The Harley Street Dermatology Clinic they know how big an impact skin disease can have on your life and consequently how important a quick diagnosis and the right treatment can be to the sufferer's quality of life. All doctors at the Clinic are experienced at consultant level in a variety of dermatological conditions.
