Mr Mahantesh Karoshi is an experienced consultant gynaecologist and considered an expert on women's health. He practices in Harley Street, and provides a comprehensive range of treatments such as: vaginal hysterectomy, laparoscopic ovarian cyst removal, fibroid surgery and abdominal hysterectomy.

Mr Mahantesh Karoshi is a Consultant Obstetrician & Gynaecologist and Women's Health Expert. He practices both in the NHS and his private clinic. He brings a wide and specialist skill-set to his patients. He is a firm believer in educating his patients as best as he can, to contribute to achieving the best possible clinical and holistic outcomes. By taking this approach, he enables and empowers his patients, whilst addressing their issues and concerns.

Mr Karoshi's approach to patients' problems is built on dedication and passion, drawing on analytical thinking as well as on time honoured reading, teaching medical professionals nationally and internationally.

Mr Karoshi prides himself on running his clinic at 108 Harley Street; where there is an extremely high standard of professionalism, where patients are directly involved in their care and management in all stages, and where new techniques and advances play a central role.

He actively engages in research, and frequently presents new findings at professional conferences. Since 2013 he has been a Co-Convenor for the Annual Masterclass in the Management of Massive Postpartum Haemorrhage at the RCOG, London. He graduated in 1994 in India, undertook specialist training in the United Kingdom, and was appointed Consultant Obstetrician and Gynaecologist in 2010 at Barnet Hospital.
