Mr Martin Claridge is an experienced Consultant Vascular & Endovascular Surgeon specialising in keyhole procedures for venous disease and varicose veins. Regarded as an expert in his field, he provides individually tailored walk-in-walk-out varicose vein treatment at Premier Veins in Edgbaston and at private hospitals in Solihull, Sutton Coldfield and Droitwich.

Mr Martin Claridge qualified from University College London Medical School in 1996. He trained exclusively in vascular and endovascular surgery during his specialist surgical training in Birmingham and was admitted as a Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons in 2009. He was awarded his doctorate for vascular research by Birmingham University in 2010.

Martin completed a year of further specialised training in endovascular surgery in Queensland, Australia where he gained experience in endovascular aneurysm repair and percutaneous management of peripheral arterial disease using angioplasty and stenting. During this time, he won the Atrium Prize from the Australian Society for Vascular Surgery as best trainee.

Martin was appointed as Consultant Vascular and Endovascular Surgeon at Heart of England Hospitals in 2011 and became Clinical Director of this Trust's major vascular unit in 2015. He is the Educational Lead for Vascular Surgery in the West Midlands.

Martin is based at Premier Veins, a one-stop varicose veins clinic in Edgbaston's Medical Quarter where patients can receive expert consultation, diagnosis and treatment for problem veins from a team of leading Vascular and Endovascular Consultants. The clinic is equipped with the latest minimally invasive technology and treatment is tailored to each patient's needs using a range of highly effective walk-in-walk-out procedures.
