Dr David Brull is a London heart specialist and leading Consultant Cardiologist whose private practice is based at The Hospital of St John and St Elizabeth. With wide experience in treating all aspects of adult heart disease, his specialist interest is in the treatment of coronary artery disease through percutaneous coronary intervention (angioplasty and stenting).

Dr David Brull qualified at the Royal Free Hospital Medical School in 1992. He has worked in several London teaching hospitals (Guys Hospital, The Royal Free Hospital and University College London Hospital) and following a period in clinical research was appointed Consultant Cardiologist and Honorary Senior Lecturer to The Whittington Hospital and Heart Hospital, University College Hospitals in October 2003. Dr Brull became Cardiology Clinical Lead at The Whittington in 2011.

Following his appointment in 2003, Dr Brull played an integral part in setting up the Primary PCI Service based at Heart Hospital UCLH, providing immediate access and round the clock treatment for heart attack patients throughout North and Central London. In April 2015 The Heart Hospital services moved to The Bart's Heart Centre, forming the UK's largest Cardiothoracic centre.

Dr Brull has wide experience in treating patients with all common cardiac conditions including: angina (chest pain), hypertension (high blood pressure), heart failure, referrals for investigation of palpitations and collapse, cardiovascular risk assessment, perioperative cardiac assessment and treatment of elevated cholesterol levels.
