

Theodora Kalentzi

Private GP and Menopause Specialist

City of London

Dr Theodora Kalentzi is a leading light in the field of female menopause. She is a British Menopause Society (BMS) Accredited Menopause Specialist. Leading the team at the Medical Prime clinic, Theodora is committed to a holistic approach. She offers personalised care for women experiencing the perimenopause and the menopause via in-person, video and telephone consultations.

Dr Theodora Kalentzi qualified as a doctor in Greece in 1992. A highly experienced GP, she has worked in the UK since 1996.

Theodora holds a Postgraduate Diploma in Obstetrics and Gynaecology and an Advanced Certificate in Menopause Care. She is a member of the Royal College of General Practitioners, an Advisory Board Member of the Sleep Council and a Clinical Teaching Fellow at Imperial College London.

Theodora obtained her Master of Science degree in Health Management from Imperial College London. During her career she has held several senior healthcare management positions, including NHS Medical Director.

With a special interest in women's health, Theodora often delivers presentations on the menopause to a wide range of organisations.

The Medical Prime clinic is located in the City of London and provides quality care in a discrete and welcoming environment. Working within a shared care framework, the clinic provides specialist menopause and perimenopause care, GP services, Cognitive Behavioural Therapy (CBT) and nutrition consultations.

Dr Theodora Kalentzi provides expert, personalised care for women experiencing the perimenopause and menopause, including:

- Time to discuss symptoms and concerns
- Full assessment including blood tests where necessary
- Risk assessment of osteoporosis, cardiovascular events and breast cancer. Advice on risk reduction
- Management options: self-care advice, HRT, body identical hormone therapies and alternative treatments
